Technology & StartUps Capability

Our specialist technology and startups team apply their technical knowledge and legal acumen to support businesses of all sizes with strategic and pragmatic legal advice throughout their entire business life cycle.

We know tech, we know business

We understand the inherent challenges and cost constraints associated with startup ventures and technology businesses. We are able to consider and prepare material for clients to provide them with the strategic advantages needed to succeed in this competitive market.

We provide advice at all stages of the business life cycle end to end. From startup and structuring through to obtaining capital and funding for growth and finally to significant liquidity events such as sales and exits or other business succession planning.

We have the necessary commercial understanding

Hillhouse Legal Partners support businesses from a diverse range of sectors and industries, offering a tailored approach to meet each client's specific requirements and circumstances.

We appreciate the complexity and time pressure of business, especially in the technology landscape where the pace of change is accelerated. Our clients can be confident that their matters are being handled by a team of specialist legal experts enabling them to focus on the success of their core business.

Protect your ideas and stand out in the tech space

Information Technology providers and startup businesses are fiercely competitive markets.

We understand the importance of protecting your brand, ideas and products so that you can preserve every competitive 'edge' possible.

Access to capital and funding is also crucial to all tech and startup business. We can help guide you through the myriad of funding options and assist you in accessing capital while protecting the business and its founders/ owners from exploitation and risk.

Our Approach

We appreciate that clients within the technology and startup space have different appetites for risk and varying degrees of commercial experience. We are there to support and guide all clients through all facets of building and scaling their business.

We take the time to understand the business needs now but also where the owners wish to take it in the future. We then help to develop a strategic road map, mitigating risk whilst placing the business in a strong legal position to capitalise on opportunity.

We can also assist with personal future planning such as asset-protection, estate planning and business exit strategies.

Our clients are confident in knowing they are being advised by industry experts.

"Hillhouse Legal Partners helped me set up my tech business five years ago and, since then, they have supported me with legal advice as my company has grown. From day one I have felt like they have had our backs. I've always found each Hillhouse team member to be very happy to help while being extremely professional. They understand how to run a business, they understood my journey in growing my business and I have always had their personal attention when I needed it. As my business continues to expand, I will continue turning to them for strategic and solutions focussed advice."
